

Congressman Robin Hayes with the
Cumberland County Business Council
Present the Fifth Annual Defense Trade Show and Government Procurement Workshops

The Department of Defense (DoD) and major defense companies spend billions of dollars each year on subcontracts. Congressman Robin Hayes, in partnership with the Cumberland County Business Council, will be hosting a Defense Trade Show and Government Procurement Workshop to help you become more involved in doing business with the DoD and these large companies. Representatives from over 50 large defense contracting firms and several DoD organizations will be available to answer your questions on how to get subcontracts and also work with the government. In addition, there will be workshops held on Department of Defense procurement and doing business with the government to answer your specific questions. Congressman Hayes wants to increase the visibility and knowledge within NC about subcontracting opportunities and provide local businesses with more information about government procurement.

Tuesday, August 8, 2006
9 am – 2 pm, open-house style – come and go as you please
Fayetteville Technical Community College, Horace Sisk Gym

Who will be in attendance?

- *Over 50 Prime Defense Contracting Firms both large and small
- *Representatives from various DoD Commands and Organizations, including Ft. Bragg and the 82nd Airborne Division
- *North Carolina Procurement Technical Assistance Center

FREE! No pre-registration necessary

For more information, please contact Jennifer Shirley in Congressman Hayes' office at 202-225-3715 or Jennifer.Shirley@mail.house.gov. Thank you - see you on August 8th!